DRESS LIKE A PILGRIM

A Procurement Guide

SEPTEMBER 1, 2021
THE MAYFLOWER GUARD
General Society of Mayflower Descendants
As James Baker, noted Pilgrim historian, points out in his recent article in the *Mayflower Journal*¹ there is a major image problem associated with what clothing and apparel Pilgrims wore. The image of black clothing, buckles and blunderbusses persist in the public mind. To overcome this misperception and to assist in this effort to change public perceptions, the donning of appropriate garments representing what the Pilgrims actually wore should be a major objective for the commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the arrival of the Mayflower. We the Mayflower descendants need to Dress Like a Pilgrim and wear Pilgrim Appropriate Apparel (PAA).

So, what did Pilgrim men and women wear?

Fabrics

In 17\textsuperscript{th} Century England and in the Netherlands, there were two basic fabrics that were used for clothing, wool and linen. Silk was also available and used for fancy wear. Light leather was used for men’s clothing in doublets and jerkins but was not used in women’s wear. There was combination of wool and linen know as fustian that was also used, however finding this fabric today is almost impossible. A type brushed cotton moleskin is available in some fabric stores online. A cotton canvas is also offered by vendors. Cotton while available was very rare and very expensive in the early 17\textsuperscript{th} century.

Colors

We know that the Pilgrims wore a variety of colors in their clothing from probate records where the color of various clothing items were mentioned including the colors violet, blue, green.\textsuperscript{1,2} The color red was also listed. However, the reds that were used in the early 17\textsuperscript{th} century were more of a brick red and a madder red which is a little more orange in nature than modern reds. What was considered black in the early 17\textsuperscript{th} century was a little different than what we think of black today. Very dark greys, greens, and blues might count as poor versions of black and natural black sheep’s wool was also available. The deep rich black was broadly expensive and was the opposite of demonstrating piety in the early 17\textsuperscript{th} century. Thus, a true black would not have worn by our Pilgrim ancestors.

\textsuperscript{2} (http://mayflowerhistory.com/clothing)
Men’s Apparel
The basic apparel for pilgrim men would have consisted 1) a shirt which also served as underwear, 2) breeches or slops, 3) stockings, 4) latchet shoes, and 5) a hat (brimmed, flat, or a monmouth cap). Slops were commonly used in addition to breeches in the 1620’s. Slops were full, with lots of gathered fabric around the waist and legs and ended just above the knee. Both breeches and slops were worn high and your waist size should be measured at the bellybutton. The seam of the doublet (not including the skirting) should sit at the bellybutton.

Women’s Apparel
The basic apparel for pilgrim women would have consisted of 1) a smock which like a man’s shirt served as underwear (today the smock is often referred as a shift or sometimes as a chemise), 2) petticoat or shirt, 3) waistcoat (some vendors today refer to the waistcoat as a bodice), 4) stockings, 5) latchet shoes, and 6) coif or cap. Women also wore brimmed hats the same as men.
There are historically accurate patterns available for individuals who like to sew and make their own period appropriate appeal.

1. The Tudor Tailor is considered by many as a leading source for patterns for pilgrim apocopate attire. They have patterns for men, women and children. These patterns can be ordered online from Etsy’s.

2. Reconstructing History has patterns for both men and women. These patterns can be ordered at: http://store.reconstructinghistory.com. It should be noted however that there have been reports that making clothes from these patterns is hard and these patterns can lead to frustration. On the other hand, some vendors claim that they use these patterns exclusively for the items that they sell.
1) 16th century Common Man’s Doublet and Breeches pattern # 207 would be the choice for men.
2) Women’s English Jackets and Petticote pattern #201 would be the choice for women.
3) 17th Century Collars and Cuff #103 is also useful.

Fabric Sources

There are several sources for fabrics which can be considered pilgrim appropriate material for appeal.

Note: Avoid patterns (both woven and printed), including but not limited to stripes, checks, paisley, brocades, and floral designs.
1. Burnley & Trowbridge of Williamsburg, VA is one of the leading suppliers of colonial era fabrics. They carry wools, linens, hemps, and silks that are appropriate for the 17th century.
www.burnleyandtrowbridge.com

2. WM Booth Draper of Wisconsin also carries wools, linens, hemps, and silks that are appropriate for the 17th century.

3. The Tudor Tailor in the UK has many fabrics that are perfect for the 17th century and their shipping is reasonable and fast. Tudor Tailor fabrics as well as their patterns can be ordered online from Etsy’s.
https://www.etsy.com/shop/TheTudor Tailor

4. Saint Augustine Textiles in St. Augustine, Florida specializes in clothing for reenactors of a variety of periods including the 17th century. In addition to ready to wear appeal they do offer fabrics in wools, linens, and cotton canvas for those who wish to make their own clothing.

5. Townsends is one of the leading providers of colonial era appeal for reenactors. They offer a variety of fabrics in wool, linen, and cotton canvas for those wishing to make their own pilgrim appropriate appeal.

twnsends.us/](http://www.to twnsends.us/)

Readymade

For those that do not sew or know someone who does, there are vendors provide readymade or made to order pilgrim appropriate apparel. After a good deal of research and interaction with reenactor groups such as the New Plimmoth Gard, the Mayflower Guard has identified a few vendors where you can purchase pilgrim appropriate apparel at reasonable prices; each of these vendors have been used by GSMD members to purchase apparel.

The listing of these vendors should not be considered as an endorsement but rather as information that might be useful for individual members and Partner Societies wishing to have their members dress like a pilgrim. The GSMD has no financial association with any of these vendors. It is the goal of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants to have as many members as possible dress like Pilgrims, as part of our efforts for 2020.

Men’s Apparel Vendors

Ddoublets & Breeches/Venetians

There are sources that have been used for men’s doubles and breeches. It should be noted that 17th century breeches were also known as venetians.

1. Sally Green Historical Costumes is the U.K.’s largest supplier of what they refer to as "off the peg" costumes for seventeenth century re-enactment. They stock significant amounts of many items in most sizes, except where specified. They have both men’s and women’s clothing that are mostly made of wool. When measuring the waist, it should be done at the belly button as the breeches were worn high. It is highly recommended that you call and place your order by phone and discuss the order with an actual person at Sally Green. 1) Doublet Plain (£79.00) 2) Doublet Trimmed (£110) 3) Breeches (£65 (44"plus from £70) 3) collarless shirt (£25.00, 4), Casaque is a cloak which buttons to the front in its first mode, then unbuttons and re-buttons into a sleeved coat men’s outer coat from: (£129)

Shirts and Falling Bands

Men’s shirts in the 17th century were large and long serving as underwear. Collarless shirts were worn if a separate falling band was used. Collared shirts had collars of between 2 and four inches, both plain and with lace. Falling Bands were a large, flat collar, usually trimmed with lace, worn by men in the 17th century. The falling band was worn on the outside of the doublet and was a separate garment.

1. Sally Green Historic Costumes offers Falling Band collars (£15.00). They offer both collarless and collared shits (£25.00). www.sallygreen.co.uk/sg-contact.php

Shoes

Latchet shoes were what was commonly worn by both men and women in the 17th century. There are vendors that have been used for purchasing latchet shoes. The common colors were black and brown. Availability can be problematic for some vendors depending on size and color.

Another option is to convert chukka or desert boots into latchet shoes. The picture below is a pair of commercial shoes on the left and converted chukka boots on the right.
1. Boots by Bohemond from Albuquerque, New Mexico does handmade leather boots, shoes and footwear for use in the SCA, Renaissance fairs, living history, theater and screen, and historical reenactment groups from the middle ages. Their Mary Rose Tudor Shoe is an excellent choice for pilgrim latchet shoes ($80). They come in both men and women’s sizes. You can also add an Anti-Slip sole or a Crepe Sole for an additional $25.

6. Loyalist Arms in Canada 16th – 17th C. Shoes (Pikemen’s Shoes) ($135)

Hats

There were three types of men’s hats that were worn by the pilgrims:
- The brimmed felt hat or open crown hat
- The wool flat hat.
- The Monmouth cap. This is a wool knitted cap which makes an excellent helmet liner.

Any or all these types of hats are appropriate.

Brimmed Hats
Most brimmed hats come in three basic colors, black, brown and grey. The preferred colors are grey and brown. The modern version of the brimmed is known as the open crown hat. The open crown hat is available from numerous western wear vendors and manufacturers including Stetson, Resistol, and Twister which vary in price from over $349 to $65. Dirty Billy Hats in Gettysburg is a custom hat maker making reproduction hats of various era. They can custom make a tall 7½-inch crown Pilgrim hat. Top Hats.com offers two versions of a pilgrim appropriate brimmed hat, the Charles #261 and the Plymouth #264 are both high crown hats. There are a variety of vendors for open crown felt hat including:

2. Shepler's Twister 2X Select Wool Men's Open Crown Hat (hats in black brown and light grew) ($52.00) https://www.sheplers.com/brands/twister/twister-hats

5. Top Hats.Com The hats from Top Hats.com are custom made to order. When ordering it is good to specify no hat band to avoid getting a buckled hat band which was not appropriate for the time-period of the pilgrims. The two hats are 1) the Charles #261 for $180 and 2) the Plymouth for $72. https://www.top-hats.com/Departments/Costume.aspx?sortorder=1&page=1

Bands for Brimmed Hats
The big buckle hat band that is common in art was not what the Pilgrims used for hat band. A buckled hat band is in a real no-no to be accurate in the portal of our pilgrim ancestors. A cloth hat band was the most common. It is easy to make your own custom hat band by braiding three different color 3-inch strips of cloth together. You can choose colors that complement your doublet or bodice and your breeches or skirt. The standard width of most fabric is 42 inches which is enough to make a hat band.

Flat Hats
For the wool flat hat, the best source is Sykes Sutlering. These flat hats come in a variety of colors ($15).  www.sykesutler.com

Monmouth Caps
1. Skyes Sutlering has Monmouth Caps in natural wool colors. ($42)
